

OPEN SHOP SUES FOR $200,000 DAMAGES

Louis Bossert & Son Accuses His Rivals and Unions of Freezing Deal.

FIRST ACTION IN THIS CITY Company Gives Defendants 20 Days to Avoid Judgment by Default.

Louis Bossert & Son manufacturers of wood trim, brought suit in the Supreme Court in Kings county yesterday for $200,000 damages alleged to have been sustained through an agreement between the Joint District Council of New York and Vicinity of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and a number of employers, who are named with the treasurer of the union as defendants.

The plaintiff firm is an open shop concern and it alleges that the employer defendants have agreed with the council that only members of the union shall be employed in the manufacture of wood trim. The complaint says that the alleged agreement provides that manufacturers who are members of the alleged combination will not handle wood trim produced by open shops except 1 1/2 inch window sash and under, and that none of the council members will sell or install non-union material except in this particular size.

Injunctions have been applied for by open shop firms against the carrying out of the alleged agreement, some by the American Anti-Boycott Association and some by other parties, but this is the first instance in this city in which a suit for damages has been entered.

The defendants specifically named in the complaint are as follows: Empire City Gerard Company, Murray & Hill Company, Harlem River Lumber and Woodworking Company, Jamestown Mantel Company, Meiseldenzow Company, Niagara Woodworking Company, Levin, Kohn, Rosenberg & Co., L. M. Woodworking Company, Betz and New York Woodworking Company, Weisenberger-Bauer Company, David W. O'Neil, Ernest D. Gerard, James Murray, Robert Hill, George M. Turner, J. Neel, individually and as treasurer of the Joint District Council of New York and Vicinity of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

The defendants are summoned to answer within twenty days, failing in which the complaint says judgment will be taken by default.
